In his report on why Hungary and Soviet Russia should be kicked out of the UN, Mr. Lewis made the following remarks:

"What a lot of mice we are. We talk about freedom and principle and the dignity of man and the ideals of democracy, we make long and flowery speeches, we set up propaganda machines like the Voice of America and Radio Free Europe, we spend hundreds of millions of dollars a year on a lot of sanctimonious blah, and we don't make the first move to back any of it up with any deeds or any principles. We could have blocked the recognition by the UN of this gang of hoods, murderers, and racketeers that pretends to be the government of Hungary; all we had to do was to exercise our veto.
